

MONEY MATTERS

Directions: Take some time and reflect on your learning and the development of your roadmap in Finding Your Grind. As you mentally wander, feel free to write any observations or notes about your experiences in the development of your roadmap and finding your grind.

As a reminder, when you reflect, I want you to compare intended with actual outcomes, analyze and draw causal relationships, synthesize meanings, and apply your learning to new situations while also building on knowledge and skills developed. You will not make a mistake; this is about producing personal insight and learning from all your experiences.
